HELPED SCRIPPS TO EVADE DRAFT

Files Show Cox Wrote Letter to Editorial Director.

Both Sons of Rich Publisher Were Exempted.

Boards' Decisions Overridden by Wilson and Baker.

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—New light on the manner in which James G. Scripps, son of Edward W. Scripps, multimillionaire publisher of the Cleveland Press, Toledo News-Bee and other newspapers, obtained exemption from military service during the late war is given by the army draft records now on file in the War Department.

Although this case as well as that of Robert P. Scripps, a younger son of the California publisher, attracted nationwide attention the secret surrounding it during the war prevented the public from learning what influences were brought to bear to keep the wealthy Scripps brothers out of army service.

FILES ACCESSIBLE.

Now, for the first time, the War Department files are accessible for inspection. They show that Gov. Cox of Ohio, Democratic nominee for President, played an important part in keeping the Scripps brothers out of danger and safe in a soft high-salaried job while some of the poor and less influential citizens risked their lives at the front.

In the draft record of the Scripps case is a letter by Gov. Cox dated July 11, 1917, and addressed to Earl M. Martin of Cleveland, editorial director of the Scripps papers, in which Cox declared that the withdrawal of James G. Scripps from active connection with the Scripps papers would greatly impair their efficiency.

This letter was sent Nov. 30, 1917, to J. J. Borras, Adjutant-General of California. It was an attempt of the Scripps attorney to force the draft board of San Diego county to certify an appeal to the President after it had twice rejected young Scripps' claim for exemption on industrial grounds. Borras' activity in behalf of Scripps resulted finally in the draft board sending the case to Washington for review by the President.

CALLS ON BAKER.

It is recalled that E. W. Scripps and several men influential in his organization came to Washington, called on Secretary of War Baker and brought pressure to bear with a view to securing a revision of the local and district draft boards in the cases of both the Scripps sons. All draft cases appealed to the President were reviewed and decided by Provost-Marshal-General Enoch H. Crowder under the direction of Secretary Baker.

On May 10, 1918, the records show the action of the local and district draft boards in California was set aside and James G. Scripps released from all obligations of military service.

Robert P. Scripps, younger brother, and unmarried, was similarly released on appeal to the President after his local Butler county board and the Ohio district board had ordered him into uniform at Camp Sherman.

The Cox letter was sent to Washington by Adj.-Gen. Borras of California and made part of the record in the case of James G. Scripps, on which the latter was exempted.

SUPPORT FOR PRESIDENT.

It is regarded as a significant circumstance that the Ohio Governor who performed this service for the publisher of the Scripps papers should now have this support for President.

In October, 1918, when public indignation throughout the country had been aroused to a high pitch over the successful efforts of E. W. Scripps to keep his sons out of the army, reports were published in Ohio that Gov. Cox had been influential in aiding him.

Cox was then a candidate for reelection. On October 30 he issued a formal denial. In the October 31 issue of the Cleveland Plaindealer, a Democratic newspaper supporting Cox, he is quoted as saying:

"I never spoke or wrote a word to the President, the Secretary of War or to any draft board asking for exemption of Mr. Scripps, any one in his organization or anyone else. The Governor of a State has not the slightest authority to exempt any man or to prevent his exemption."

The letter in the War Department files reveals this denial as an evasion. So far as the record indicates, Cox did not speak or write to the President, the Secretary of War or any draft board. It shows, however, that he did write a strong and persuasive argument for young Scripps' exemption, which Earl Martin, editor in charge of the Scripps papers, used to good effect with Adj.-Gen. Borras in California and Secretary of War Baker in Washington.

DRAFT BOARD'S ATTITUDE.

In refusing to order the action of James G. Scripps on the ground his services were necessary to the Scripps papers, the National Press Association, the Newspaper Enterprise Association and other organizations controlled by E. W.

Man Goes Into Insane Rage in a Dispute Over Mill Dam.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WEBB.)

HALIFAX (N. S.) Sept. 19.—In a fit of insane rage arising from a dispute over the location of a mill dam, Havelock Vennott today shot and killed one woman and three men, including his father, and then committed suicide, at Havelock, near here.

Scraps, the draft board of San Diego county, where young Scripps lived with his father, went on record by a vote of four members to one as follows:

"We believe it would be unfair to young men who are making sacrifices for the defense of their country if both sons of a very wealthy father are given a deferred classification when it is clearly possible that one of them could go without affecting the support of their families or impairing their family fortunes."

Acting on this suggestion, Milton A. McKee of Detroit, a large stockholder in the Scripps concern, telegraphed from San Diego to Adj.-Gen. Borras as follows:

"In regard to Robert W. Scripps, who has been associated with him in the Scripps enterprises, are of opinion that he is not imperative in need and in a time like this might well be spared for the public service. Therefore, if one or the other must go, it would appear that it should be Robert, but if it should be insisted that he be retained, then we feel that James ought to go."

This was obviously a strong argument for the exemption of James. As it turned out, not only James was exempted, but Robert also, and neither of them was in a time like this might well be spared for the public service.

sound and should be maintained." The Democratic platform says that "the policy of the United States with reference to the non-admission of Japanese immigrants is a policy of the United States and the enforcement of the laws enacted pursuant thereto of particular concern we pledge our support."

Evidencing a lack of sympathy with the Democratic plank, the Democratic New York World, chief organ of the Wilson administration, said editorially of Senator Harding's pronouncement:

"Japanese-baiting at Marion."

"With his eyes as intent upon the ballot box as upon the Japanese, Senator Harding sums up his policy on the question of Japanese immigration with the word: 'The nation owes it to the people of the Pacific Coast to stand behind them, in necessary measures consistent with our national honor, to relieve them of their difficulties.'"

The people of the Pacific Coast owe something to the nation but the candidate did not consider that worth the price. It has been the practice of politicians and office holders in that region, in their dealings with the Japanese, to ignore the national honor, to relieve them of their difficulties.

It is in every way proper and desirable that the nation should stand behind the people of the Pacific Coast in the Japanese question until the people of the Pacific Coast can take responsibility to the nation. Most of the difficulties which this problem has created for the Pacific Coast's demographic habit of acting independently of the government at Washington. Harding does not mean to encourage that sort of thing he should have said so, votes or no votes."

EMPLOYMENT DECREASE IS SHOWN BY REPORT.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WEBB.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Ten out of fourteen representative industries showed a decrease in employment in August as compared with July, the Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.

The number of employees in the automobile manufacturing industry decreased 10 per cent in August as compared with July. Other decreases were 6 per cent in the woolen, leather and 5 in the leather, hosiery and underwear industries. Increases were 1.5 per cent and 1 per cent shown in car building and repairing and in paper making.

As compared with July, the pay rolls in August showed decreases in nine industries and increases in five.

PERSONNEL IS FIXED.

TUNIS, Sept. 19.—The situation, a staunch supporter of Premier Giolitti, explains that the commission which the Premier has decided to appoint for the purpose of submitting concrete proposals respecting participation by workers in the technical, financial and disciplinary management of the factories will be composed of six members appointed by the masters, six by the men, including on each side two representatives of the technical staff or the clerks.

The World Today

Secretary and Trust Officer, Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank.

BY BRUCE H. GRIGSBY.

EVERY day in the business of a trust company there comes to light some sad story of a young man (and sometimes a young woman) whose life story might have been different had he or she had the benefit of the advice or guidance—yes, even control—of a trust company when fortune smiled upon them through an inheritance.

Here is an instance, as related by the Bennett Loan and Trust Company of Sioux City, Iowa, where the services of a trust company would have told a different story:

"Mr. D. and his wife had two daughters, but no sons. They took a young boy and intended to legally adopt him but never did, although he continued as one of the family and was held in high esteem by all members of the family. When the boy was 16 years of age, Mr. D., then advancing in years, made his will, the terms providing that the wife, in case she outlived him, should have a life-use of the property, the property itself to be, at her death, divided equally between the two daughters and the boy, whom they had taken into their home."

"Within a very few years, Mr. D. died, the wife accepting the terms of the will as to life-use of the property in lieu of dower, and the boy, then 19 or 20 years of age, seemed to change his ambition; it appearing that he became anxious to acquire habits that would absorb the inheritance in sight."

"Mr. D. had been advised by the attorney who drew the will that the share that the boy was to get should be placed with a trustee for a time, at least, but Mr. D. seemed to have such confidence in the boy that he decided to make the devise without any other condition than that the wife should have the right of use during her life."

"Mrs. D. soon died, leaving the boy with an undivided one-third of an estate then worth some $50,000—at about the time he became of legal age. He soon took on associates who assisted him in promptly dissipating all that he had inherited and it was only two or three years until all his property was gone."

"Had Mr. D. when he executed his will, secured the assistance of a trust company, the share that he intended should provide for the boy during his life time, could have been handled in a way to aid the boy and accomplish the purpose that Mr. D. really desired. The trust company would have prevented the dissipation of the property and would have prevented his forming the vicious habits he did form in the short time. The scandal that arose from the spending of money in vicious ways by a boy suddenly come into wealth before having opportunity to obtain a training for the proper handling of wealth would also have been avoided."

"Probably the foregoing is only such an incident as comes so frequently as to cause no comment. The public seems to have no thought as to what shall become of an estate, after the income tax has been collected. While the heirs are the ones who have first and most direct concern, and while the assistance of a trust company is to their advantage in conserving their inheritance, and assisting them in putting it to profitable use and keeping the inheritance profitably and safely employed, it seems that the public should be interested. Estates used in the right way are for the benefit of the public. Used in a vicious way more criminals are made and the public injured in many ways."

"So it seems the general public should give trust companies advantages and trust company ambitions a welcome, to the end that estates may be conserved and handled for the benefit of both the general public as well as for the individual heirs and devisees."

The Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank is authorized by law to perform every duty of trusteeship, either for individuals or corporations. BROTHER OF LOFTIS WEDS HIS SECRETARY.

DEATH OF CHICAGO DIAMOND MERCHANT.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—A second marriage growing out of the death of Samuel L. Loftis, diamond merchant, in his Edgewater apartment as the climax of a gay party became known yesterday. The announcement was made of the marriage of Joseph Swift Loftis, a brother of the dead man, to Mrs. Josephine M. Hessel, who was Samuel Loftis' secretary.

The couple were married in Philadelphia by the Rev. Robert Tummel on September 1. Mr. Loftis went East on a purchasing trip on August 21. He met his bride in Philadelphia the day of the wedding.

Following the death of Samuel Loftis and the reorganization of the firm of Loftis Brothers on August 17, the then Mrs. Hessel was elected president of the company, with Joseph Swift Loftis as vice-president and treasurer.

The day before she was elected president, the estate of the dead man, valued at nearly $1,000,000, jointly with his brother.

Mrs. Loftis has been with the firm for seventeen years. She has held every position from stenographer to president. She was born in Chicago and educated in the public schools.

Mr. M. Sharny and Miss Ruth Woods, who figured in the story of Samuel Loftis' death, were married about a month ago.

DIRE THREATS MADE BY IRATE FATHER-IN-LAW.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—"Keep away from my daughter, or I'll shoot you full of holes, out out your heart, try it in olive oil and peppers and feed it to my dog."

This was the gentle warning issued to Frank Russe by Paul Monacoe of Oak Park. The prospect did not look good to Russe and he remained away as long as he could. He longed for his bride of a day, who is virtually being held a prisoner by her father. She managed to smuggle out passionate letters to her youthful husband, begging him to get her out of prison.

Today a family conference was held, all the uncles and aunts and cousins calling on the imprisoned girl, and they convinced her she was too young to be a bride, so she has written Russe to cease his attentions and asked her father to have the runaway marriage annulled.

MAN FOUND WITH VICTIM TELLS STORY OF STRUGGLE IN APARTMENT.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—"Buck" Slavin, 32 years old, a traveling salesman, was strangled to death in an apartment at 4121 Grand Boulevard last night.

The apartment in which the V'bar-avenue police found the dead man is leased to Mrs. Jeanne Lawrence, 32 years old, a widow.

Mrs. Lawrence and a man who gave his name as Max Cohen were in the apartment when the police arrived. Cohen gave himself up to the police without a struggle.

The furniture in the apartment was in wild disorder. A table had been overturned. Several glasses had been broken on the floor. Three chairs were overturned. A bookcase, window had been shattered. Every room presented a scene of disorder. The police were called by neighbors who heard the struggle.

When they entered they found Slavin lying on the floor, Mrs. Lawrence hysterical and Cohen cowering in a chair.

Cohen said Slavin attempted to force his way into the apartment of Mrs. Lawrence, where he was making a call. The two men were rivals.

"Slavin rang the doorbell," said Cohen, "and when Mrs. Lawrence opened the door he forced his way in. Finally, I got him down and choked him. It was either he or I had to die."

"She asked me to put him out. We fought all over the house. Finally, I got him down and choked him. It was either he or I had to die."

POLAND WANTS UPPER SILESIA.

France Also Planning to Take Part of Germany.

Close Co-operation Exists Between Countries.

Breach With Great Britain in no Wise Healed.

(BY CARL-REINHOLD DISPATCH.) PARIS, Sept. 19.—At the same time that France occupies the Ruhr Valley, if this occupation becomes inevitable in the expected conflict between France and Germany on the subject of reparations, it is probable that Poland will accomplish a similar act on Germany's eastern frontier by invading coal fields of Upper Silesia.

The closest co-operation exists between France and Poland, apparently with some reason, for the forthcoming plebiscite will give the rich Silesian coal fields in Germany. The districts of Allenstein and Marienwerder already have been taken over by Poland.

UPPER SILESIA.

France Also Planning to Take Part of Germany.

Close Co-operation Exists Between Countries.

Breach With Great Britain in no Wise Healed.

(BY CARL-REINHOLD DISPATCH.) PARIS, Sept. 19.—At the same time that France occupies the Ruhr Valley, if this occupation becomes inevitable in the expected conflict between France and Germany on the subject of reparations, it is probable that Poland will accomplish a similar act on Germany's eastern frontier by invading coal fields of Upper Silesia.

The closest co-operation exists between France and Poland, apparently with some reason, for the forthcoming plebiscite will give the rich Silesian coal fields in Germany. The districts of Allenstein and Marienwerder already have been taken over by Poland.

That the Poles intend by all means within their power to bring on a new European war.

DR. FRENCH E. OLIVER.
BIBLE INSTITUTE.
"Where there is no vision the people perish."
Every great architectural, inventive, scientific, philosophical, artistic, legal, medical, moral or spiritual triumph in the history of the human race has been produced as the result of a vision in the soul of some one. The vision of Columbus impelled him in his mission of discovery. The vision of Edison gave to the world the wonders of his inventive genius. The vision of Marconi became the wireless telegraph instrument. The vision of the Wright brothers gave to the world the triumph of aerial navigation. The vision of America's greatest President, Abraham Lincoln, gave freedom to millions of slaves.

"There are two visions greatly needed in these days of world-wide unrest and increasing crime. First, the people need to have a vision of the exceeding sinfulness of sin. Sin in these days seems to have become a passport to social position, theatrical capital and theological incertitude. In the mine at Cherry Hill, nearly 400 men were smothered by the deadly black damp. Sin is the black damp of hell that has swept men into naughtiness of crime and moral degeneracy. Sin has murdered virtue, honesty and modesty. The Creator would stop this wild stampede to hell. He says: 'The soul that sinneth, it shall die.'"

"The second vision needed is a vision of the love of God for poor fallen humanity as demonstrated in the death of Jesus Christ on the cross. He, by the grace of God, tasted death for every man. The stroke of judgment fell upon our substitute. Thank God, He paid our debt, and offers pardon, forgiveness, justification and sanctification to every one who will look and live. 'Seek ye the Lord while He may be found, call ye upon Him while He is near.'"

REV. E. F. DAUGHERTY.
FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH.
"The doleful, discouraging depressing view of men and things and a small measured outlook; it will be healthful at any time for any man to hop out of his half-neck measure of morning pessimism and take at least a half-bushel measure of things in general."

"The morale of business life is no more to be measured by the scale which occasionally comes to the surface in it, than the potency of the Christian religion is to be measured by the backsliders from it."

"The passage of every hour of the week days witnesses the payment of myriads of checks, the safe delivery of millions of letters, a worldwide eagerness in the rush of men to discharge of daily duty and unjaded transactions in the business matters attest the wide and deep honesty of the business world, the high moral standards regnant in that world; about them all there is little or nothing said, but when some footpath fellow raises a bill, or some clerk embroils a transaction, there are columns of press comment, much space to photographs and some to editorials, strengthening the impression that the world is bad and not good."

"It is among the mighty hosts of the common people that the best things are preserved in domestic life. In social, political and business life, in these ranks, the Bible, the great questions of life and death and destiny mean something."

"The tendency to doubt is stronger in cities than rural regions not because men are better thinkers in the city, but because in its rush and noise it is less likely to be sober and earnest thought, and it is from the great cities for the most part that the great noisiest, heresies, dishonesty and unfaith and immorality."

"The optimism of the Bible is not blind to existing evils; nor is it the insane foolery denying their reality, but it is of the virile aggressive sort."

A Seasonable Clearance of Barker Bros.' Entire Stock of Porch, Patio and Garden Furniture at Important Savings

There are but few days in the mild Southern California winters when one may not, for a part of the day at least, enjoy the warm sunshine while lounging in an easy chair or a couch hammock on the porch or patio, or even get nearer to nature on a bench in the garden.

The price discounts, varying from 10% to 40%, which have been placed on all of Barker Bros.' extensive assortment of outdoor furniture therefore mean more than a last-of-the-season clearance. They afford the opportunity of buying furniture of year-around use at worth-while savings.

The assortment includes chairs, rockers, tables, settees, benches, etc., of maple and cane, or hickory; Matthews garden furniture of cypress, painted white; couch hammocks, arbors and arches.

The extremely good values offered may be judged by the following prices:

In the group of maple and cane furniture shown in the above illustration,

The Chair is priced at $ 8.50
The Rocker at $15.50
The Ottoman at $ 1.95
The Table at $16.50
A Couch Hammock, complete with standard, canopy and one pillow, is priced at $49.75
Gray Oak Armchair, with double cane seat $9.75
Enameled Rocker, with cane seat and back $9.00

Refrigerators at Closing-Out Sale Discounts

Many popular models of Gibson refrigerators have been priced at seasonal clearance reductions.

Some typical examples, showing the advantages to be gained by purchasing your refrigerator at this time, are:

on, who rendered the aria from "The Barber of Seville" with such gusto. Her work lacks the sparkle that is characteristic of the great vocalists, but her voice has the promise of effective, dramatic power.

ARTHUR KAY TO LEAVE GRAUMAN'S.

In view of the prominence that Arthur Kay has achieved in connection with the popular concerts at Grauman's Theater, the announcement of his leaving that institution, which was made yesterday, comes as a surprise to musical and picture lovers as well.

A difference of opinion arising between Sid Grauman and Mr. Kay over the musical presentations at the theater is the reason assigned for the director's resigning.

He will make his final appearance as conductor of the orchestra next Monday morning, and will be succeeded by Mr. Gutierrez, who has been in charge of music at the Liberty Theater in Portland.

The resignation of Mr. Kay has been followed by that of Lew Gray, the organist, and Ted Leith, who has been in charge of the orchestra. The possibility of a future affiliation has yet been founded for Mr. Kay, but it is understood that he will not accept any position for directorship.

established a very notable reputation for himself during the past months through the popular efforts at Grauman's Theater, which he conducted.

"PEGGY BEHAVE" AT THE MAJESTIC.

Very few clever men left their brains anything concerning their art. They confine their story to the generalization of "I love theaters to the woman's friends supply. As a matter of fact, it is not for any woman to know much about her husband's heart in his own lips, because unless she is the superstitious type, she will help into jeans into jeans, just enough the influence of association.

Whatever there is of moment in farcical comedy "Peggy Behave" is missing. As the weak the Majestic, would probably take in as some such theory as the foregoing. And there comes the in much poetry, in the scheme of piece which the Wilkes presents.

The plot of the play is rather thin,

Nevertheless, there are one or two important complications, and a few trifling bits of humor that make the distillable appeal of this picture a little more complete.

The quality of mercy may not be extended, but the quality of acting is generous!—and nobody is going to quarrel with the picture on the basis of the theater—with a personal opinion of the players' ability than usual this week.

BET LYTLE AT TALLY'S BROADWAY.

People who like Bet Lytle, and their names are legion, with myself numbered among them, are not going soon to forget his virid and appealing Leigh Dering in "The Price of Redemption" at Tally's for which he has been chosen. For the week ending Monday, the 10th inst., he is the one who would like to make his name a capital actor, a real actor, with an understanding of the roles he portrays which go below the skin—an actor of adroitness and resource.

His playing of the character after the manner of Leigh Dering is viridly real: his scenes with his little boy gain fine sympathy and there is real pathos in the scenes with his wife, whereas, after the murder of his faithful-lav, of which he knows he will be accused, he finds his wife whereas does love him and that she is to become a mother.

There is a peculiar part of the story, having to do with the Hindu intrigue, is rather a fume. It is beautiful, but it is not so real as the rest; it is valuable and is unusual from first to last. There are a lot of complications and the story is so well told that it will keep you up the suspense. The effort to inject a sense of eastern mystery is only partially successful.

It is nice to see lovely Clare Madison back on the screen in the role of the first aid to the avenger, though it is not so good as when she was she does what she can to make her character human. Nobody, not even Leigh Dering, is so good as she is. Actually do. Seena Owen once more plays a suffering wife, and does the part well.

The play moves too slowly, and hasn't one foot of comedy relief in it. It is a pity, for it is so good on reels or so. Photographically and pictorially, however, the production

Cestero declared the citizens of the Dominican republic have fought the prevent American troops and have never ceased to work for restoration of their freedom.
Cestero said:
"My country is engaged in a civil war which has only a benevolent character. It is a task which is being done for the benefit of the people and with their acquiescence. The task was defined by the United States when the two countries entered into the treaty which the United States undertook to do in nearing
